

Company Policy

Our customers are the basis of the developments in the company and for our personnel.

The most important factor in our work are the wishes and needs of our clients. By implementing them, we offer high quality communication equipment to the market that meets the standards of today's business.

Our quality control system includes all key activities of the company, allowing to perform, control and to provide guaranteed product quality.

We seek reliable information about our client's wishes and the market's development trends, as well as factors that would positively affect the solution quality offered by us.

Our business is based on essential principles of fair competition.

Every single company department: administration, research and development, production, purchase, sales and marketing, logistics and accounting, is an important link in the common company chain. Comprehensive activities and development would be impossible without balanced progress of any of these activities. Thus, every employee contributes to the company's success.

The basic goal of our company is to improve the welfare of our clients, enterprise and employees. We are in continuous development and consider it our duty to follow the latest developments in the world market.

The products of SAF Tehnika are designed and made to conform with the demands, standards and norms existing on the market. We follow both international and Latvian legislation.

Our company provides conditions and resources for the production of high quality products.

On a regular basis, we evaluate the achieved results and define new goals and development directions based on them.

We have provided conditions for every employee of SAF Tehnika to be able to follow the defined quality system procedures and understand the importance of such quality policy. All the necessary actions are performed to constantly improve our quality control system.
